City To Purchase Right Of Way For Main Sewer Line

Circleville City Council Tuesday approved an ordinance to purchase the Giffin property on the east bank of the Scioto River at an agreed price of $8,500.

The ordinance also appropriated the necessary funds for the purchase. The property is needed for the right of way for the sewer line to the proposed new sewerage treatment plant to be located west of the river on a tract of land purchased from Container Corporation of America.

The price agreed upon is within two appraisals by disinterested persons. The appraisals were requested by council at its last meeting.

Public utilities director Charles Taylor said that after a complete study and negotiation with the property owners, the board of public utilities decided it would be better to purchase the land than to acquire a right of way easement only.

Council also passed an ordinance authorizing the director of public service, Atwood Jones, to enter into a contract with Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., for lighting the city's streets and alleys. Jones noted the contract will be basically the same as the previous one except a fuel adjustment clause has been included.

An ordinance to rezone an area of land on E. Corwin St. across from Bowling Stock Yard from one and two family residential area to light industry was held for a third reading. At the last council meeting, residents of the area had objected to the rezoning. The Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended the rezoning upon the request of the property owners involved.

Two ordinances concerning the Valhalla Subdivision located off Pickaway St. at Hargus Creek were read and held for a second reading. One ordinance was to accept the storm sewer easement of the subdivision and the other to accept the plat of the subdivision and to dedicate the streets.

Mayor Frank Barnhill announced that Richard Shaw, 568 N. Pickaway St., has been appointed to the Planning and Zoning board to replace Ed Frericks, 334 Meadow Lane, who recently resigned. The appointment was approved by council.

The mayor announced the citizens committee he had appointed to study alternative methods of financing the proposed sewerage treatment plant has held two meetings.

The annual cleanup-fixup-paintup campaign of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce is being planned the mayor said and a date will be announced soon. Barnhill said the city plans to participate in the campaign.

Along those same lines, Councilmen Harold Hoffman and David Goldschmidt reported they have received several complaints recently on junk cars and trash in the city. The mayor noted his office has received a number of complaints on the junk cars on city streets and private property.

There was a discussion on the repair of railroad crossings by the N & W. Public Service Director Atwood Jones reported when the West Main Crossing repair is completed the railroad will start on the South Court St. Crossing.

A letter from Mrs. Geneva Ullman citing the poor condition of the crossings was read.

The mayor announced he and members of council have been invited to the April 24 meeting of the Pickaway County Board of Health to discuss formation of a joint city-county board of health.

A letter from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control reported it is processing the application for the transfer of Frank's Bar from South Court Street to West Main Street. Chief of Police Robert Temple said the only complaint he has received so far was lodged by George Haley who operates a bar on West Main Street that is adjacent to proposed relocation.

Councilman David Goldschmidt reported the city has received real estate tax revenues from the county. Total received for the general fund is $42,744.09. Total received for all funds was $73,801.38. Goldschmidt also reported that as a result of a meeting of all members of council, it was decided to spend federal revenue sharing funds on capital improvement projects.

One of the projects being considered is improving the entrance to Ted Lewis Park.

Barberton Barn Faces Destruction

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—An historic block-and-brick barn here that dates back to Barberton's founder may be registered only in memory if an application for federal funds is approved.

The owner of the old barn, which is listed in the National Register of Historic Places, has announced she will sell the property as a site for an $8 million senior citizens housing complex if federal funds are approved.

Mrs. Paul Palmer, the owner, had no part of getting the barn listed in the national register.

Watergate Wide Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate investigation is gaining momentum after President Nixon abandoned the blanket claim of innocence for White House aides.

Nixon said Tuesday he will send his aides to testify publicly as demanded by Senate investigators preparing for hearings next month.

He said he launched a new presidential inquiry into the matter last month, about the time Watergate burglar James McCord began telling his story to a Senate committee and a federal grand jury.

This time the President's inquiry is being conducted by persons outside the White House staff, some of whose members reportedly have been implicated in McCord's secret testimony.

In a related development, Nixon's re-election committee was reported to have offered the Democratic party $525,000 in damages to settle a multi-million-dollar package of lawsuits over the Watergate raid. But Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss said he wouldn't accept any offer until it becomes clear that the affair will be aired sufficiently in public inquiries.

Nixon disclosed his actions in a three-minute statement to newsmen at the White House. No questions were permitted.

He said he met Sunday with Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen who gets reports of grand jury testimony.

"I can report today that there have been major developments in the case," Nixon said. "...real progress has been made in finding the truth."

He wouldn't elaborate on the developments or name anyone who might be under suspicion. But he also said he has told investigators that no officials are exempt from prosecution, and said he'll suspend any government employee indicted in the case and fire anyone convicted.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that supersedes Nixon's longstanding claim that administration officials have been cleared, because the latest statement stems from "serious charges" that Nixon said first reached him March 21.

The President's original claim was made more than seven months ago on Aug. 29 at a California news conference. Nixon said then that presidential counsel John W. Dean III had concluded an independent investigation of the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic offices at the Watergate building.

Nixon said then "categorically" that Dean's probe indicated nobody then in the White House or the administration was involved. However, reliable sources say McCord has testified that another conspirator, G. Gordon Liddy, told him that Dean himself helped plan illegal bugging and related activities.

Nixon now has abandoned his attempts to keep Dean and other White House aides off the Senate witness stand. He capitulated to demands by a special Senate investigating committee, headed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., that presidential aides testify in public and under oath.

Ervin's hearings begin May 15, with live television coverage permitted. Nixon said television publicity wasn't a "central issue" behind his reluctance to allow testimony by his aides.

Nixon's statement brought murmurs of approval from Republicans, some of whom have warned of looming election disaster because of Nixon's handling of the affair.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland called it a "constructive decision." Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona said he was "very pleased."

WANTS TO TALK ABOUT WATERGATE — Martha Mitchell, shown with her husband former Attorney Gen. John M. Mitchell, says she's anxious to tell the Senate committee investigating the Watergate case "some things they never heard in their life."

President Spells Out Energy Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon removed limits today on oil imports and asked Congress to end federal price regulation on new supplies of natural gas.

In a message to Congress, Nixon said oil importers could bring in as much oil as permitted under their present quotas without paying any further tariffs. However, he said, they may import petroleum in addition to the 1973 quota levels upon payment of a fee.

He said the tariff-free imports will be phased out over seven years until all oil imports are governed by the fee schedule.

In other major points of his message, Nixon asked Congress to deregulate the price control of new natural gas supplies on the interstate market by the Federal Power Commission.

The proposed legislation would authorize the secretary of the Interior to monitor natural gas prices and impose a ceiling on them if necessary.

Prices already dictated by the FPC would remain unchanged.

The President directed the Interior Department to triple by 1979 its leasing of federal offshore areas for oil and gas development by extending the leasing into new areas beyond 8,028-ocean depth of 200 meters (about 622 feet) and beyond the channel islands off Santa Barbara, Calif.

But he resubmitted his previous proposal to create an oilfree sanctuary off Santa Barbara in the area which suffered a major oil spill in 1969.

Nixon asked Congress to authorize the Interior Department to license the construction of deep-water ports in federal waters beyond the three-mile limit.

He proposed further the department be converted into a new Department of Energy and Natural Resources, expanding his previous proposals along those lines.

To enable power plants to continue burning coal, a plentiful fuel, Nixon asked the states to postpone implementation of a national air quality standard designed to protect the environment.

Federal law requires achievement of a separate standard by 1975 for protecting public health but sets no specific deadline for attaining the environmental protection standards. At least 22 states, however, have proposed to meet both standards by 1975.

In another action Nixon directed the Interior Department to establish an Office of Energy Conservation to coordinate federal energy-saving programs.

And he directed the Commerce

Department to develop a voluntary program by which manufacturers may label energy-consuming products to display their efficiency.

Major Gasoline Price Hike Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A petroleum industry official says by mid-summer the cost of gasoline in Ohio will increase five to seven cents per gallon.

Roger Dreyer, executive director of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association, said, "I would say you will be paying 42 cents a gallon by mid-summer."

Purchasers of wholesale fuel in Ohio are also feeling the pinch of an upcoming crisis in diesel and heating oil.

"For the first time in history, except during the war years, we have no assurance that future fuel needs will be met. And the future is right around the corner," said Robert Ratchford, executive vice president of Commercial Motor Freight, Inc., Ohio's largest trucker.

The state's deputy director for purchasing, Walter McCreary, said Ohio's requirements for heating fuel will double in the next year because of certain Environmental Protection Agency requirements. "We may not have sufficient oil to satisfy the requirements," McCreary said. "I have requested that an energy officer be appointed to establish priorities."

The state exhausted its 14 million gallon limit of heating fuel earlier than expected this past winter and had to purchase oil on the open market at more than twice its contract rate.

"It hasn't struck yet because the big summer driving hasn't started yet," Dreyer said. "There has been some price increase at the wholesale level that has not shown up retail. They must show up, because otherwise people will go out of business."

"You'll see signs up, 'Sorry, no gas. Come back tomorrow.'"

"Within the next 15 to 20 days when the driving starts picking up, you will see a shortage. Prices are going to go up because the crude oil costs more."

"Normally refiners stockpile gas. They had to turn all their efforts to the home heating market and utilities. This took away their storage capacity," Dreyer said.

"I don't think it will come to rationing. But the days of gas wars, where people were fighting under free enterprise, is over. When you can't get the product, you can't fight," he said. Two major Ohio gasoline suppliers refuse to speculate on prices.

Pitt Curtiss, a Standard Oil Co. (SOHIO) official, said, "We expect to meet the demand for our product in the state of Ohio on the retail level."

SOHIO purchases three-quarters of its supply of crude oil from other refiners, Curtiss said. "The ability to forecast the quantity of the products we'll have is dependent on our ability to have a supply of crude oil. Any increased cost of crude oil represents a direct expense."

He said rationing, closing service stations certain hours or days during the week or limiting amount of fill-ups has not been discussed with dealers.

"Certainly there is a shortage of gasoline. But we do not anticipate any rationing in our retail marketing area in the Midwest," said Mike Russo, a spokesman for Marathon Oil Co. of Findlay.

"We are not anticipating any growth in sales since the amount of product available to us this year is comparable to last year," he said. Inventory for the Midwest is down two per cent from last year.

State Budget Bill Up For House Vote Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House was to vote today on the administration's $9.8 billion budget bill with majority Democrats predicting it will pass without significant change.

Leaders wanted to send the spending proposal to the Senate before taking an Easter recess extending from today until May 1. The Senate would have two months to act before state spending authorities lapses July 1.

New bills poured into the clerk's offices Tuesday. Today is the deadline for their introduction. A total of 119 was received, and at least 50 more were to be offered today, the House clerk's office reported.

In the only major floor action Tuesday, the Senate approved the House-passed, $92.2 million federal revenue-sharing bill 29-3. Senate changes will send it back to the lower chamber.

Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, the Senate sponsor, described what he called "the only dramatic changes" from the House version.

The Senate took out of the bill an allocation of $3.8 million that would have been used to pay up to half of the fares of aged and handicapped passengers on local mass transit systems. Dennis said the deletion was agreed to in order to keep the "bricks and mortar" intent of the legislation.

He said $2.2 million of the $3.8 was added to vocational education school construction, bringing that total to about $40 million. The funds represent the state's matching share of costs already authorized by voters in vocational education school districts, Dennis explained.

Otherwise, the Senate reinserted in the measure $756,000 to match federal funds for new armories at Alliance and Youngstown-Warren. The House had taken the armories out of the bill.

Senate Democratic Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, urged support despite the deletion of the mass transit funds which his city wanted. Calabrese said he expects the Senate to put the appropriation into the two-year budget bill.

Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, who voted against the bill, said he did so "because it calls for the expenditure of a vast amount of money with very little in it for the state's largest county." The other negative votes were cast by Sens. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, and Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma.

Dennis pointed out that Ohio's mass transit systems stand to benefit "to some extent" by a House amendment to the budget bill that sets aside $2.8 million for grants to mass transit systems for equipment. "That should help to ease their financial problems," he said.

Besides the $40 million for vocational education, the bill earmarks $18 million for the Department of Natural Resources for land acquisition and park development. Among projects are $3 million for Lake Erie beaches, $1.5 million for fishing and boating facilities, $1 million for scenic rivers, $375,000 for Sandusky flood plain acquisition, and $500,000 for lake development at the new Barkamp State Park in Belmont County.

—Department of Public Works, for a fire academy $1.5 million; police academy, $1.5 million; crime laboratory, $500,000, and Cedar Bog land purchases, $405,000.

—Adjutant General, $406,000 for the Warren-Youngstown armory, $350,000 for the Alliance Armory.

—Board of Regents, $2 million for equipment for two-year institutions of higher education.

—Ohio Educational Television Network, $1.2 million for capital improvements and operating expenses.

—Ohio Historical Society, $115,000 for the Ohio River Museum.

—Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections, $4 million for new correctional facilities.

—Environmental Protection Agency, $2.5 million for public water supplies.

—Ohio Expositions Commission, $4 million for capital improvements.

—Department of Natural Resources, $18 million for parks.

—Department of Highway Safety $669,669, Highway Patrol posts.

—Department of Transportation, $700,000 for airport safety and security

Ptl. Ronald Lewis Honored For Resuscitation Effort

Ohio State Highway Patrolman Ronald G. Lewis was awarded a Certificate of Recognition Wednesday morning by Capt. R. L. Saunders, District 6 Commander, "for his quick action and efforts Feb. 11 in administering mouth to mouth resuscitation to an elderly gentleman who had suffered a heart attack and had ceased to breathe."

Patrolman Lewis, assigned to the Circleville Post of the Ohio State Patrol 3 1/2 years ago, was eating supper with his wife Sharon and their son, Steven, 8, on Feb. 11 in the Fortes Restaurant, Columbus.

As the patrolman and his family were preparing to leave, a man identified as Pitman Hunter, 80, Columbus, keeled over from a table where he had been eating with his daughter and son-in-law.

Ptl. Lewis, who was off-duty, thought the man had suffered a heart attack and immediately started mouth to mouth resuscitation. He kept the man alive for 15 to 20 minutes until the Minerva Park rescue Park rescue squad arrived, but he was pronounced dead on arrival at Riverside Hospital.

Ptl. Lewis was cited by rescue workers, owner of the restaurant and son-in-law of the dead man for his quick reaction and knowledge of emergency procedures.

Lewis, who lives with his family at 244 Nicholas Drive, was a policeman in New Boston prior to joining the patrol.

World Demand For Food Is Growing

Food is the most exportable commodity the United States and western Europe produce. Demand for food worldwide is growing. For the second consecutive year much of the remainder of the world is coming up short on harvests, disastrously so in some countries.

Weather is blamed for much of the problem, though the organization of agriculture remains primitive in many lands. Even the "green revolution" of new seed strains and farming techniques has been stopped by shortages.

Severe shortages have forced such major consumers as Russia, China and India into world markets to buy up any quantity of grains they can find. This has pushed up prices and placed a burden on underdeveloped countries which rely upon producers elsewhere for basic food necessities.

It is too early to predict what harvests will be like in many countries this year, but the damage already caused by the world food chain may take as long as a decade of favorable crops to repair. Another disastrous year following the last two would put a severe pinch on resources of food-poor countries.

India, one of those supposed to have benefited most from advanced farming technology, in January had to purchase $200 million worth of grain. In that one exchange, India spent nearly one-fifth of its foreign exchange reserves. And so far there is no proof that 1973 will be a good world crop year.

Game Protector Clarence Francis spent a busy week searching water in the river bottom for fish left out by recent floods and found nearly 4,000 game fish which he liberated in Darby Creek. A large number of carp were found and turned over to needy families.

All of the 20 employees of the local postoffice were affected by the new law with the 15 per cent pay cut ordered by President Roosevelt.

An effort to alleviate the problems of feeding many of the city's needy by providing garden plots and seeds was made by several of the city's charitable organizations.

Two large pine trees were planted in front of the Pickaway County Courthouse. The trees were donated by Paul Hohen Schleyer and moved to the courthouse by the Circleville Motors wrecking car. Fred C. Clark, local funeral director, supervised the planting and paid for the labor.

A rash of chicken thefts in Pickaway and Fairfield counties were cleared up with the arrest of three Pickaway and Fayette county men.

City council was seriously considering ownership of a municipal light plant.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How do you feel about the new fad of tattooing designs on the arms and the body of women?

My daughter, a high school senior, read about it the other day, and already is seeking permission to have it done.

Mrs. S.N., N.J.

Dear Mrs. N.:

I, too, read that story and emphatically disapprove of this irreversible bit of nonsense. For years I have called attention in these columns to the dangers of skin tattooing on men.

Syphilis, malaria, infectious hepatitis and other virulent diseases have been introduced into the bodies of unsuspecting people by this process. These diseases are a severe penalty to pay for a prank that is short-lived and usually painfully regretted.

The U. S. Government issues to all members of the Armed Forces specific warnings that tattooing in foreign or domestic tattoo parlors is dangerous. Despite these warnings, when resistance levels are lowered by alcohol, illicit tattooing, with all its hazards, still exists.

In most states tattooing is illegal. Such laws should be reinforced to make people who seek to be tattooed just as responsible as those who do the tattooing. Until then, parents must exert the greatest pressure.

Tattooing is considered a surgical procedure. Therefore, anyone who tattoos a design, whether it is a ship or a lovely flower, should have written consent from the parent of a minor and a license to practice surgery. Only in this way can the hidden dangers of tattooing be eliminated.

Why don't you remind your daughter that what is acceptable in fashion today will be "dated" and "old hat" next year? Old hats can be thrown away. The length of dresses can be altered.

But a tattoo is there forever.

With spring coming on, I worry about my personal tendency to attract bees, wasps, and hornets.

What can I do about it?

Miss T.D., Ga.

Dear Miss D.:

For years I have resisted acknowledging that some people more than others attract mosquitoes and other stinging insects.

I do know that mosquitoes for some reason boycott me completely (But not me.—Ed.) I am sure that there must be an explanation for this.

There are a few precautions that you can take. It is well known that cosmetics, suntan lotions, perfume, and other fragrances do attract insects.

Some studies indicate that bright colors, too, attract this kind of insect.

People who are highly sensitive to insect bites should exert great effort to keep garbage cans covered. Leftover foods in the outdoors should be quickly discarded.

There are many insect repellents that can be applied to the skin of people who have a close bond of affinity with unwanted insects.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are having trouble balancing your budget, you might keep a bird for a pet instead of a dog, a cat—or a mistress. It costs only a penny a day to feed. Some 7,670,000 U.S. families do have pet birds—about 26 million of them.

Was Abraham Lincoln the model of humility he is sometimes pictured as having been? Not according to John Hay, a White House secretary, who said in a letter to William H. Herndon, Lincoln biographer and onetime law partner: "It is absurd to call him a modest man. No great man was ever modest." Hay wrote that it was Lincoln's "intellectual arrogance and unconscious assumption of authority" that made enemies of some members of his Cabinet.

In the beginning of the automobile age, most cars were painted black. Today only three per cent are. What the trade calls "earth tones" are popular now.

Quotable notables: "Many jewels make women either incredibly fat or incredibly lean." — Playwright Sir James Barrie.

It's criminal: Crime is prevalent in modern business offices for a good reason—less than 20 per cent of all office burglaries are solved.

Wet statistic: A dry martini addict will hardly even want to dip his toe in the Atlantic ocean when he learns this: it contains 82 quintillion, 171 quadrillion, 672 trillion, 174 million, 450 thousand and 100 gallons of water—give or take a drop or two.

Hard to explain: The average man can grip or hand squeeze with a strength measured at 81 pounds, the average woman only 48 pounds. But which sex usually is usually able to put the squeeze on the other in a showdown?

Household help: Most experts agree that if you are trying to reduce your grocery bills you should always avoid supermarket shopping when you're hungry. You almost inevitably overbuy.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Some state representatives are repeating the oldest fallacy of the human race; the idea that you can lessen an evil by legalizing it. The state lottery is one step toward legalized gambling. Past history in America gives ample proof that where legalized gambling has been tried it has failed. The issue is a spiritual one, fraught with immediate significance for the character of the nation.

The quicker we get over the idea that getting something for nothing will build up the economic and moral structure of America, the better.

I plan to vote "no" on Issue 1 on May 8th and I urge others to do the same.

Sincerely,
KENNETH H. GEREN, Pastor

Mistake Repeated?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When the Soviets want something, they are prepared to pay for it provided they can't get it any other way. So, when Senator Henry Jackson says that Moscow will receive no trade concessions so long as it is official Russian policy to employ a high "education" tax to keep intellectual Jews from emigrating, the Kremlin responds by making a few exceptions to its rule. The exceptions, however, aren't good enough; the U.S., which has wheat and machine tools to satisfy some dire Soviet needs, is in a position to drive a much harder bargain if Congress doesn't lose its nerve.

The futility of trying to placate the Communists is an old, old story. In his excellent new book, "Eyewitness to History: Memoirs and Reflections of a Foreign Correspondent for Half a Century," Isaac Don Levine tells the lamentable tale of how Albert Einstein capitulated intellectually to the Soviets, with no net gain accruing to his own people.

Levine, who came to know Einstein in Berlin in 1924, had compiled a volume of letters from Russian prisons documenting the Soviet persecution of political opponents. In a prefatory note to the book, Einstein wrote:

"The powers that be in Russia will be compelled to alter their methods after the appearance of these letters in print, if they desire to continue their attempt to acquire moral standing among the civilized peoples."

Later, in a letter to Levine, Einstein remarked of the premier-dictator, Joseph Stalin, that "violence breeds violence." "Liberty," he told Levine, "is the necessary foundation for the development of all true values."

After Adolf Hitler's rise to power, however, Einstein started to make excuses for Soviet barbarism. When Levine tried to get Einstein to sign a protest that applied a single standard to the Nazi and Soviet purges of the Thirties, he received a muddled turn-down. Although Einstein "regretted" that the Russian political leaders had "let themselves be carried away... by resorting to political murder," he said a protest would "have no effect in Russia." "Consider further," he admonished Levine, "that the Russians have proved that their only aim is really the improvement of the lot of the Russian people."

When Levine insisted in a last despairing letter to Einstein that "Jewish emancipation" owed its birth to "the English libertarian ideas of the state," he got no answer. A relationship that had lasted for ten years was broken.

So we come on to the present. What good did Einstein gain for the Jews of Russia? One wonders what the physicist's response to the current Soviet pressures on Jews might be. Would he sign a protest today in behalf of the gifted and pitiful Valery Panov, who, along with his ballerina wife, was forced out of the Kirov Ballet in Leningrad and condemned to stultifying inactivity after applying for an exit visa to Israel? Or would he still say that "the Russians have proved that their only aim is really the improvement of the lot of the Russian people"?

Increased demand for fiber-glass reinforced plastic pipe, tanks and pollution control equipment will boost laminate consumption from 100 million pounds in 1972 to 390 million pounds in 1978, predicts Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The uniqueness of the Equity Funding collapse, the factor that sets it apart from other spectacular financial scandals, is the uncanny summary in one case of so many prime business weaknesses and problems.

Involved in the mysterious activities of the California mutual fund-insurance company, as if in a morality play, are the very issues that business and government have somewhat futilely been seeking to resolve on other stages.

All to be reviewed, if not proven or disproven, in this case:

Conflicts of interest, reliability of auditors, the "performance game," adequacy of Wall Street research, effectiveness of government regulation, abuse of the little investor.

The key allegation by the Securities and Exchange Commission is that the firm made a massive and prolonged effort to alter its books and records to show business that didn't exist.

Specifically, it is alleged, Equity Funding Life Insurance Co., a subsidiary, sold fictitious policies to other insurance companies, the purpose being to obtain immediate cash in exchange for a portion of future premiums.

In this manner, says the California Insurance Department, 50,000 policies were created and sold for $25 million. This gave the appearance of booming business, an appearance eagerly accepted by the financial community.

About 100 banks, fascinated by the possible price appreciation in the company's shares, now are left holding millions of shares. So are scores of brokers and thousands of their clients.

But the Equity drama is larger than the particular actors and plot. It is pocked with symbols.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST. Was there or wasn't there? Raymond Dirks, a stock analyst, suspected that Equity's business was inflated and reported the same to his clients, some of whom may have sold out before regulatory officials were informed.

Two issues develop from this: To whom was Dirks' primarily obligated, to clients or to regulatory officials? Does acting on this information constitute a violation of regulations limiting insider trading?

RELIABILITY OF AUDITORS. As in earlier cases, such as those involving Billie Sol Estes and Tino De Angeles, certified public accountants accepted paper said to represent assets without questioning the authenticity of the paper.

Just as no auditor banded on De Angeles' salad oil tanks to find if they gave off a hollow sound, nobody in the Equity case sought the bodies behind the policies.

THE PERFORMANCE GAME. Equity was beloved on Wall Street. It was a fast-moving stock offering big capital gains potential, especially for capital-rich institutions. The latter helped greatly to elevate the price.

Equity management, like any other performance-minded management, knew that capital of this sort ceased once a company's growth slowed. It knew also that if its shares slumped its acquisition programs would die. And so it performed.

WALL STREET RESEARCH. While much is highly professional and involves personal, on-site investigation, some is superficial and much just hearsay.

As has happened before, there is a strong suggestion that Wall Street had its eyes on the price action rather than on fundamental values. At a time when it is seeking to rebuild its image it has earned another blotch.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION. With financial conglomerates growing, who's in charge? Who is the primary regulator: state insurance departments, banking departments, Securities and Exchange Commission?

LITTLE INVESTOR. Did any brokerage house make a concerted effort to call small investors and inform them of developments? Did brokers tell the little guy of the same suspicions they relayed to the big institutions?

FHA Sponsors Talent Show

By CINDY BEATTY

Friday is an unusually good school day and March 30 was no exception. The annual talent show, headed by the FHA, exposed some of the more known as well as hidden talents around WHS.

The student body was entertained by several musical numbers and two comedy skits. But the teachers were not to be excelled as was proven by their uncompetitive finale. The unique band disguised as Dracula, gypsies, hard-hat workmen, and other un-describable characters performed "Rubber Duckie", an instrumental number, and vocal rendition of "I've Got A Brand New Pair of Roller Skates".

Judges for the show were Rev. R. Chapin, Mrs. Marian Smith, and Mrs. Pat Fleming.

First prize went to ten venturesome seniors for their comedy skit of "The Old Price is Right" and two distorted commercials. Steve Cochran earned second place with his solo and third prize went to Wendy Neff and Sonny Liff for their duet.

Perhaps next years' anticipated talent show will have more contestants.

Trail Talk

Did you find your monkey, Cheri?

Did she really hit you hard, Duffy?

Afflicted? Try The Power Of The Press

DEAR ABBY: Concerning that woman in Twin Falls, who wrote complaining that no doctor in that town would deliver her baby without full payment in advance: she said a neighbor of hers who had been seeing a doctor all along suddenly found that he refused to deliver until he was paid in full.

I was a bit surprised that she hadn't gone to the newspaper. A newspaper is the public watchdog. It is the obligation of newsmen to bark when the general welfare of the public is endangered.

Sounds like a weak bunch of money-hungry newsmen up there who are afraid to let anything in their paper that may make an advertiser unhappy. The advertisers then become the controlling element of the press.

This situation should be fully covered in stories and editorials. Each doctor in the town should be contacted by a reporter and his story put into print. In this action it is likely that one or more will turn up that do not subscribe to the mercenary policy described.

What is our society coming to if money, or the lack of it, determines if you have the right to live or die? Nowadays, the colleges that give the doctors their education and the hospitals in which they get their experience are largely supported by our tax dollar.

If newsmen in that area lack the intestinal fortitude to get this story in and get it in accurately, they have no right to call themselves newsmen. They lack commitment to the profession and to the public they serve. They are an insult to the professionals in the field.

That woman should camp on the managing editor's desk until he puts one or more competent reporters on the story and either proves her wrong or exposes the situation for what it is. This is the obligation of the paper to the community.

AN OLD SCHOOL MANAGING EDITOR

DEAR OLD: Hold it! The TIMES-NEWS in Twin Falls did exactly that. With no prompting from me or anyone else.

DEAR ABBY: Our son, Ronny, will be 5 on Dec. 27, 1973. According to the laws of this state, a child who is 5 years old by Jan. 1, 1974, is eligible for kindergarten in September of 1973.

I'm afraid if we start Ronny in kindergarten in September he will not only be the youngest, but the smallest child in his class.

He is very bright, but his father and I are both small, and Ronny is very small for his age. Do you think he will feel handicapped if he's the shortest boy in his class?

My husband thinks we should wait a year. Then Ronny will have an extra year to grow, and maybe he won't be so much smaller than his classmates. One problem is that all of his playmates in the neighborhood will be starting kindergarten this September and he wants to start, too.

What do you advise?

RONNY'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Let Ronny start school with his friends. His mental growth is more important than his physical growth. And stop making an issue of how small he is. It may not occur to Ronny to feel handicapped because of his size unless you suggest it.

Brisk Winds Halt

Hands Of Time

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Time came to a standstill in Chardon this week, at least according to the Geauga County Courthouse tower clocks.

The clocks around the tower stopped Monday after one of the four faces was blown out by brisk winds. No one was injured when the four-foot plexiglass crystal fell 100 feet and shattered over the courthouse lawn.

Coroners attributed 227 Ontario deaths to the heat during a Southern Ontario heat wave in July 1935.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A Summit County Common Pleas Court judge today dismissed the states' request to halt construction of a proposed $18 million coliseum project in Richfield Township between Akron and Cleveland.

Judge Daniel Quillin ruled that the state Environmental Protection Agency injunction request was unjustified and that sports magnate Nick Mileti may continue with construction work at the northern Summit County site.

The ruling followed a day and a half of testimony at a hearing in Akron last week.

Not so at our store. Paint is not a sideline with us. It's our bread and butter and we tell it like it is.

If a primer coat is needed... we'll tell you. If one coat won't cover... we'll tell you. If latex paint (instead of an oil base type) is best to use... we'll tell you. If one gallon is all you need... we won't push for a two-gallon sale.

Scientists Get Look At Life Chain

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Scientists have taken a deep look into the atomic structure of the chemical chain that carries the genetic information for all life.

The detail of what they "saw" confirms beyond any doubt the accuracy of the prediction about the structure made 20 years ago by James D. Watson and Francis Crick.

The Watson-Crick theory about the double helix structure won them the Nobel Prize and formed the basis of modern molecular biology.

Researchers from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology reported today that they have used an X-ray diffraction technique to examine the structure of fragments of genetic material.

X-ray diffraction involves bouncing X rays off the structure and determining the detail of that structure by measuring the intensities at which the X rays bounce at certain angles.

"These structures are the only fragments of double helices yet seen at atomic resolution and they remove any doubts about the correctness of the Watson-Crick hypotheses," the MIT group said.

The measurements were processed by a computer, which produced a plot of the location of the atoms. Comparing the technique to using a microscope, the scientists said they used a computer as a lens.

The research was reported to the 57th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by John M. Rosenberg and Nadrian C. Sesman of MIT.

Florida Senate Restores Name Cape Canaveral

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Tired of waiting for Congress to act, the Florida Senate has voted unanimously to replace the name Cape Kennedy with Cape Canaveral—the original name—on all state road maps and highway signs.

The area had been called Cape Canaveral from the 16th century until President Lyndon Johnson changed it by proclamation in 1963, shortly after the death of President John F. Kennedy.

State Sen. Lori Wilson said she felt it was never Johnson's intention for the entire Cape to bear the Kennedy name, only the space center area. She said the bill now awaiting action by the Florida house was not an attempt to "show any disrespect toward President John Kennedy, who was a great president."

Florida first asked Congress several years ago to change the name back to Cape Canaveral. The proposal passed the U.S. Senate last year but stalled in the House.

Budget Readjustment Urged By Cincy Solon

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Councilman Thomas Luken called Tuesday for a readjustment of Federal budget priorities in order to restore program cuts he said will mean a loss of $29.4 million to Cincinnati in 1974.

Luken says he will ask in a resolution in City Council today that the President and Congress reduce spending for defense, foreign aid and space programs and eliminate "unwarranted tax preferences." The savings from that move could be directed at restoring the recently-cut urban programs.

The Canada Water Act, passed in 1970, provided for fines of up to $5,000 a day for polluting.

Pentagon Papers Case Near End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cross-examination of Daniel Ellsberg in the Pentagon papers trial is expected to wind up today as the defense team prepares to rest its case.

Ellsberg testified all day Tuesday, giving terse answers to government questions, and was to return to the witness stand today for an estimated hour more of quizzing.

"I'm finding these questions very easy to answer," Ellsberg said after Tuesday's session. "I'm just saying what I did."

"I think we've been able to present a good case of what we did and why we did it. I think they (the jurors) will find

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A high pressure ridge, extending from North Carolina across the Appalachians and a weak low over Louisiana controlled Ohio's weather this morning.

The low was forecast to move northeast to eastern Kentucky by Thursday morning, bringing more showers and thundershowers to the state today and Thursday.

Cloudy skies and mild temperatures will continue across Ohio into the weekend. Highs are forecast in the upper 60s and 70s and lows will be in the 50s.

Mild, moist air continued over Ohio last night. Temperatures at dawn were generally in the 50s.

Former Local Educator Plans To Retire

John B. Hardin, 60, Superintendent of Liberty Union-Thurston School District for the past four years, announced he will retire at the close of the current school year.

Hardin was superintendent of Pickaway Twp. and Ashville Schools for many years in Pickaway County. He is the father of Charles Hardin, DVM Kingston, and Mrs. Robert Tosca, Circleville.

His service as a teacher, coach and administrator covers 37 years. Before moving to the Fairfield County School he was superintendent of Miami Trace Local District.

He and his wife, the former Hermalee Dunkel who he married last year, plan to maintain their residence in Baltimore.

that we did what we should have."

He has testified that he and codefendant Anthony J. Russo copied the top secret study of the Vietnam war because Ellsberg wanted to present it to Congress. Ellsberg has said he had hoped the documents would spur congressmen to end the war. Both defendants are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft for the copying.

Attorneys for Ellsberg and Russo indicate that Ellsberg may be the last defense witness called. The government has said it would call several witnesses in rebuttal.

In questioning Ellsberg, Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen said Ellsberg had broken his promises not to copy classified documents and not to show them to unauthorized persons. The promises were in numerous forms signed by Ellsberg when he worked for the Rand Corp. "think tank" dealing with government projects.

Dual Prime Rates Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's commercial banks have been told to devise dual prime lending rates for large and small businesses.

In announcing the plan Monday, the administration's Committee on Interest and Dividends said banks should freeze interest rates on loans for small businesses, increasing them only when justified fully by increased costs.

The rate for loans to large businesses will be allowed to respond more flexibly to changes in money market conditions, although the committee cautioned against increases that would have "disruptive market effects."

The committee noted it had no authority to force banks to comply with the dual prime rate plan, but it was made clear that banks are expected to do so nevertheless. The plan is effective immediately.

Banks also were told that any increases in their over-all structure of lending rates "must in no instance lead to undue increases" in their profit margins. This margin was defined as the average domestic earnings in the best two years of the four preceding calendar years.

Community Church Plans Last Supper Dramatization

The dramatization of the Last Supper and The Tenebrae will be a highlight of the Maundy Thursday services, 7:30 p.m., in Community United Methodist Church, corner of East Main and Pickaway Sts.

The unusual service dating back to the 4th century service is indicative of the gathering gloom and flight of the disciples following the Last Supper, the pastor, Rev. David F. Frazer stated today.

Laymen who will represent the 12 Disciples are Tom Eck, Wendell Turner, Dave McDonald, Jim Sutton, P. J. Ranck, Bill Myers, Tom Elsea, Bob Johnson, Neal Wolfe, Wayne Hatfield, Jerry Leist and Cal Danford. The service will also include Holy Communion which is open to all.

Special music will be by the adult choir (directed by Charles Kirkpatrick) who will sing "Go To Dark Gethsemane." Mrs. Dannie Fouts will play "There Is A Green Hill Far Away" as a violin selection. Mrs. James Timmons is the organist.

Nursery care will be provided.

There Are Troubles In Jerusalem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third instalment in a five-part Easter series about Pontius Pilate, governor of Judea, the judge of Jesus. It is based on biblical and historical sources.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Like scattered brush fires, the emergencies seemed to hit at various points in Jerusalem at about the same time. Roman troops already had been concentrated on one violent outbreak when Jesus made his surprise foray at the Temple.

Now another matter, a secret, night-time ambush, had to be arranged. It was a hectic time for Pontius Pilate.

Planning and directing his moves from his seditious office, the governor received a steady stream of messages and dispatched runners to military units deployed through the city. Arrests mounted. One detachment had smashed an uprising in which several died, capturing its rebel ringleader, Bar-rabas.

It was the Jewish Passover week and the city bulged with outlanders and national religious fervor, a time that always seemed to whip native antagonism to the foreign military occupation to a flashpoint.

Pilate's forehead beaded with sweat as he faced the multiplying succession of problems and rapped out orders for trying to staunch them.

From turrets atop the Tower of Antonia, overlooking the Temple square and adjoining Pilate's chambers, Roman sentries watched the onslaught led by Jesus. Swinging a braided livestock whip, he overturned coin-exchange tables, merchandising booths and sheep pens, driving out the dealers, animals, tourists and watchmen alike.

Mark's gospel reports "he would not allow anyone to carry anything" through the area, blocking all traffic and bringing the bustling trading center to a standstill. How long he held it and whether his apostles or others took part in the action are not specified.

Nor is it indicated whether he attained his objective, or if some other purpose was sought, such as removal of the Rome-collaborating Temple oligarchy. "My house shall be called a house of prayer, but you have made it a den of robbers," he charged.

Pilate, presumably informed at once of the affair, did not immediately intervene militarily, either because he lacked sufficient reserves at the moment, with troops heavily engaged elsewhere, or because the demonstration evoked such strong popular support that he deferred counteraction until he could devise circumstances more to Rome's diplomatic advantage.

Artifice was his specialty as shown on several historically recorded repressions in which he used deceptive techniques. Furthermore, he already had been reprimanded at least once by the emperor Tiberius for highhandedness. There were more cunning ways to block Jesus' movement.

In any case, that the demonstration succeeded even temporarily in vacating the huge Temple plaza, always congested and doing rush business at festival time, suggests that the disruption assumed far more powerful proportions than are detailed by the gospel narratives.

It was an assault on the hub of the province's financial, cultural and religious establishment, essential to Pilate's maintenance of colonial peace and profit.

The Temple police, employed by the Rome-appointed high priest Caiaphas and regularly posted about the

HHH Blasts Pentagon 'Power Grab'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey says a Defense Department proposal to shift all foreign military assistance to its budget would remove the aid from effective controls of Congress and the State Department.

Humphrey, D-Minn., made public a letter from J. Fred Buzhardt, the Defense Department general counsel, which suggested that the plan "makes more money available for reconstruction in Southeast Asia than any other option" and might make it easier to fund North Vietnam reconstruction by transfer of funds.

Buzhardt's letter was to Roy L. Ash, President Nixon's budget director.

"It is my hope that this bald-faced grab of the State Department's responsibility and control over foreign military assistance will be thwarted," Humphrey said in a Senate speech Monday.

The proposed legislation, he said, "would, in effect, enable the foreign military assistance efforts of our government to be easily expanded and placed outside of truly effective control by either the Congress or the Department of State."

He urged President Nixon to reject the proposal and keep it from reaching Congress as administration policy.

Spidel Becomes Judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— West Union attorney George Spidel has been appointed judge of Adams County Court by Gov. John Gilligan.

When swordfish babies are a week old they are only an eighth of an inch long.

courtyards and porticoes of the massive sanctuary, apparently had been swept aside along with the other Temple functionaries. However, biblical accounts make clear why the Temple administrators also had withheld action against Jesus at that time.

"They feared the people," the accounts say. "They feared the multitudes. They did not find anything they could do, for all the people hung upon his words." The people themselves marveled, "Is not this the man whom they seek to kill? And here he is, speaking openly, and they say nothing to him."

Pilate necessarily kept up close liaison with the ruling Temple party, the pragmatic, wealthy Sadducees. Ancient noncanonical accounts detail extensive conversations between him and Caiaphas. The Scriptures indicate that he put pressure on the Temple leaders to cooperate in dealing with Jesus or face replacement by Rome as incompetent to cope with the situation.

As one remarked, in John 11:48: "If we let him go on thus, every one will believe in him, and the Romans will come and destroy both our holy place and our nation." High priest Caiaphas added that it was expedient "that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation should not perish," meaning their civil-religious jurisdiction under Roman supervision.

Pilate knew they were hated almost as intensely as Rome itself because of their collaboration with it and dependence on it for their offices.

However, they provided a handy mediatory tool for Pilate in exercising his power. In controlling Temple worship, they held the reins of a tradition dear to the people, despite their bitter aversion to the officeholders themselves.

The governor, tense and harassed by the torrent of crises, fumed at the confused, changing reports brought to him in a constant round of briefings and decisions. Repeatedly, he cut his aides off short, questioning, upbraiding, demanding further steps to shore up security and implement plans.

To him, the whole city, with its strange religious passions, seemed an utter madhouse, a bedlam of discordant factions and uncertainties, of steaming holiday crowds, dust, hawkers, reeking streets, rickety freight carts, bleating animals and that festering tent city of thousands outside the walls, camping out there in a dingy glut of smoke, smells and undoubtedly incendiary conversations.

Slapping his "vitus" staff on the table before him, Pilate ordered additional patrols around that rustic encampment, many of its occupants being hot-tempered, revolutionary hill folk.

So far as he could make out from the information brought him, the flareup of revolt instigated by Bar-rabas was thoroughly repulsed with an unknown number of casualties. Bar-rabas, son of a rabbi, and other surviving insurrectionists were in prison. Mark's gospel, in noting their capture, does not specify their numbers.

The scene of the uprising remained a danger zone, however, and Pilate kept extra troops posted there. Violent resistance by those highly religious Zealots, battlers for Israel's independence whom Rome called Sicarii, had plagued the conquering regime ever since Roman procurators took over the province in 6 A.D., eventually leading to devastating war.

Whether any Zealots were involved in Jesus' short-lived takeover of the Temple square is not stated. In any case, armed insurgents and fighters against Rome, were among those filling the jails of Jerusalem as that Passover week neared its climax.

With some relief, Pilate noted that the Temple square had quieted down and returned to some semblance of normalcy. His main concern now was to avoid further outbreaks in the keenly volatile atmosphere, in part by covertly and quickly silencing the fiery, crowd-swaying Jesus.

The saving "messiah," some called him, "Christos," the "anointed," implying some royal mantle dangerous to Rome. He claimed some special kinship to the Jewish God. Peasant throngs in Galilee had tried in vain to crown him at once—reports of which probably had reached Pilate.

An old book, the Sybilline Oracles, perhaps known to the Romans, contained a lengthy Jewish prayer for destruction of the heathen occupation government and anointing of a new, righteous king.

"A holy king will come and reign over all the world," the prayer went. "His wrath will follow on the people of Latium and Rome will be destroyed to the ground. O God . . . let the Romans perish . . . When will the day come . . . ?"

Pilate agreed with the high priest Caiaphas that the arrest should be made quietly with as little public notice as possible, and that the trial should be held immediately to forestall any groundswell of opposition. Also, the Temple officials should arrange some show of support for the prosecution.

The man's wildly celebrated entry into the city, the rampage at the Temple and the surging enthusiasm he engendered for some so-called "kingdom of God" only confirmed the need for eliminating him.

Pilate affirmed the arrest warrant for sedition and passed it to a military tribune to carry it out. Luckily, according to word from Caiaphas, a defector from Jesus' band had offered to give directions to its late-night meeting place.

"There may be resistance," Pilate advised. "We are told some of the men are armed. Be prepared for it." The officer struck his chest with his fist in salute and spun about.

The fact that a Roman military detachment, described as a "cohort" in the gospel of John, was assigned to the mission indicates clearly that it was initiated by Roman authority, that Pilate as head of the military occupation forces ordered the arrest and put his seal of approval on the charge, whether verbal or written.

The majesty of imperial Rome, as represented by its legions in the person of Pilate, simply did not act on any authority but its own. Whatever the complicity, plottings or servile urgings of Caiaphas and his Sadducean priestly colleagues as portrayed in gospel narratives, Roman soldiers would not have moved in the case except on orders of their superior, Pontius Pilate.

A cohort, commanded by a tribune, normally numbered 600 men. However, in ancient accounts as well as in modern military parlance, the designation of a unit often is used when it is short of its full complement. It seems unlikely that an entire cohort would have been considered necessary or used to arrest one man, but even if the actual number was less, the term still would be applicable, and also suggests the gravity with which Pilate viewed the matter.

In actuality, the arrest party did meet momentary armed resistance—in the swinging of the apostle Peter's sword. But Jesus quickly stopped it. "Shall I not drink the cup which the Father has given me?"

Representatives of the Sadducean priests and Temple police also were on hand for the arrest near an abandoned oil press on a wooded mountainside outside the city. They even were allowed by the Roman commander to take the bound Jesus before Caiaphas and his associates for questioning prior to the trial, probably because of their willing cooperation in the case.

Their participation had been helpful, would be additionally useful at the ensuing trial, and was worth according some favor in the preliminary stages—a bargain easily on the side of Pilate.

But it was the governor who authorized the complaint, who dispatched Roman troops to make the arrest and whose institution of the case is over-whelmingly confirmed by his being ready personally to adjudicate it as the first item of business at an extraordinarily early hour next morning.

Tomorrow: The Trial.

President May Reimpose Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has won House approval of legislation continuing his price-control authority, and administration sources say he may use it to impose a new freeze.

That report came Monday, after the House passed, 293 to 114, a bill giving Nixon essentially what he asked: extension of his economic control

Ervin Demands

Oaths Taken

On Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Still deadlocked with the White House, the Senate committee investigating the Watergate case insists that presidential aides testify under oath at public hearings beginning next month.

The committee agreed without dissent Monday to support Chairman Sam J. Ervin's demand that White House aides testify under the same conditions as all other witnesses.

Public hearings are scheduled to begin May 15.

The committee already has subpoenaed President Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach of Los Angeles, reported The Washington Post in today's editions.

The Post quoted reliable sources as saying the committee instructed Kalmbach to bring with him all relevant campaign finance records.

Kalmbach, who holds no official government position, has handled legal matters for the President and worked in the Nixon re-election campaign.

The Post said Kalmbach is the closest Nixon associate subpoenaed so far by the committee investigating the Watergate bugging and break-in and related allegations of Republican espionage and sabotage during the presidential campaign.

In another development, Martha Mitchell said she wants to testify before the Ervin committee to "tell the senators some things they never heard in their life."

In a telephone call to The Associated Press, Mrs. Mitchell asserted that the White House told "a God-blessed lie" when it denied that Nixon met Saturday with her husband, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Told of Mrs. Mitchell's assertion, Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren again said that Nixon and Mitchell did not meet.

Mitchell, the first chairman of Nixon's re-election committee, said Saturday that he "can't wait" to face the Ervin investigators.

Ervin, D-N.C., has threatened to seek the arrest of any White House aide who refuses a subpoena to testify under oath.

powers for a year with minimum restrictions on his discretion.

The administration sources said Nixon has been presented recommendations ranging from a freeze, to tightening of the present largely voluntary controls, to a free market system without controls. The President's decision should come "very quickly," the sources added.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has come around to the view that controls in the present economic climate must be tightened, the sources said. Shultz is known to oppose economic controls and wants to see them phased out.

The administration moved to the largely voluntary Phase 3 control system on Jan. 11. Many economists outside the administration said this gave a big psychological boost for price increases. Organized labor has said Nixon should tighten controls now, adding that labor unions will be forced to seek large wage settlements unless strong action is taken on the price front.

Nixon's authority over economic controls is due to expire April 30.

The final measure extending his authority will be shaped in conference with the Senate. But that body also rejected congressional price ceilings when it approved the one-year extension, so the conference cannot write them in.

The Senate bill provides for rent controls in metropolitan areas when vacancies in low and moderate cost housing fall below 5.5 per cent.

A freeze at existing levels was proposed in the House, but it lost, 263 to 139. The House also tossed out proposals for a rollback to the levels of March 16; a rollback to Jan. 10, the last day of Phase 2, and for an extension of only 60 days.

The House outcome stung Democratic leaders there, who had worked in vain for a compromise. Republican ranks held virtually intact, but many Democrats voted with the Republicans—97 on the proposal for a ceiling at current levels.

"We have not heard the end of these issues," Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, said after the final vote.

"When the consumer price index is released in a few days, it will clearly indicate just how wrong these actions were here today."

New Diet For Dairy Cows To Cut Saturated Fats

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A new diet for dairy cows may reduce the level of saturated fats in milk.

The diet doubles the amount of desirable polyunsaturated fatty acids in the milk, according to scientists from the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Animal products — meat, milk and eggs — are major sources of saturated fats in the human diet. Saturated fats have been linked to rising blood cholesterol levels, and these in turn are a risk factor in heart disease.

"Research evidence indicates that most people can lower the cholesterol level in their blood by modifying their diet to partially replace saturated fat with unsaturated fats rich in polyunsaturated fatty essence," the Ohio researchers said.

Cattle and sheep, although they eat low fat foods, create high levels of saturated fats in meat and milk because microorganisms convert the polyunsaturated fats in their diet to saturated fats during the digestive process.

Australian scientists have developed a method of coating the animals' dietary polyunsaturates so that they are not converted. A U.S. firm is now working toward production of a supplement in this process. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is doing similar work.

The Ohio researchers, Dr. Donald L. Palmquist and Wilson R. Matto, told the 57th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday April 18, 1973

11

Experimental Biology today that they worked on another method of protecting polyunsaturated oils fed to dairy cows.

A mixture of water and soyflour was put together, with the soyflour containing in numbers 10 to 12 per cent linoleic acid, a major polyunsaturated fatty acid. The resulting product was dried out and eight pounds a day of it was fed to each of three lactating Jersey cows.

"The experimental diet effectively increased the level of polyunsaturated fatty acids in the milk fat from 10 to 19 per cent," the Ohio researchers reported.

Saturated fatty acid in the milk fat was reduced from 56 to 40 per cent, they said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Education Committee was told Tuesday teacher training won't be improved by requiring an extra year of education.

What Ohio's teacher colleges need to do, said George Dixon, dean of the University of Toledo's College of Education, is make "fundamental changes" in the way they train their students for the classroom.

Dixon testified in opposition to a bill introduced by Rep. Norman Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, that would require five years of teacher preparation.

The measure also provides that a new State Board for Professional Personnel in Public Schools make detailed requirements for the type of training teachers should receive during the five years.

Dixon said he thought such a board would do little more than "refurbish" existing teacher training programs.

Also speaking out in opposition to the bill were the Ohio Education Association and the Ohio PTA.

The House Education Committee also heard testimony on a bill sponsored by Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, that would require the state to absorb interest payments for school districts borrowing money because taxes were not collected on time.

Dr. Harold E. Wilson, superintendent of Cuyahoga Falls schools, told the committee that Summit County tax bills have not gone out yet for the last half of 1972.

Wilson said his district has had to borrow $1.5 million so far this year at an estimated interest cost of about $3,000.

Other witnesses testified to similar problems in the Akron and Twinsburg school districts and in Ashtabula, Licking, Athens and Montgomery counties.

In ancient Greece, headaches were treated by drawing blood from the sufferer's head.

Flood Of State Proposals Includes Test For Newsmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state lawmaker who led last year's unsuccessful drive to repeal the state income tax says he thinks newsmen need to know more about fiscal matters.

Rep. Robert E. Netzey, R-81 Laura, introduced Tuesday a bill that would require reporters to pass an examination on state fiscal matters before being allowed use of the Statehouse press room.

Netzey didn't mention the income tax campaign, but said he thinks Ohioans are not informed on budgetary matters and that it's the fault of the news media.

"I'm serious," he said.

He didn't say how he thinks the chances for the bill are, but he said "I expect it to get at least one hearing."

The Laura Republican's bill was among more than 100 measures introduced one day prior to the House and Senate deadline for introduction of bills. Others covered subjects ranging from traffic lights to medical schools, elections, and co-educational athletic teams.

Among 93 measures in the House were proposals to:

Establish a medical school loan commission, allow sale of alcohol on fairgrounds when fairs are not in session, change the primary election date to June in presidential years and to September in others, abolish mayors' courts, provide tax relief for renters over 65, limit campaign expenditures by public officials, authorize co-educational athletic teams in public schools, revise traffic light laws to include green arrows, right turn on red, and left turn lanes, and establish state anti-poverty action councils.

Among 26 new Senate bills were seven by Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-

11 Toledo, to make various election law reforms—including door-to-door registration.

Other Senate proposals would require the state to pay strip mine owners the value of coal that cannot be mined under state regulations, prohibit any public official from receiving a salary higher than that of the governor, and set requirements for building construction permits.

Senate Kills ERA Amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee, by a 6-3 vote, today killed the proposed equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The House passed it March 28 on a 56-40 vote.

Backers in the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance and Elections Committee tried to delay the vote until May 1, when the General Assembly returns from an Easter recess. That was defeated 5-4.

Sens. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, and Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, offered the motion that it be recommended for passage. Both then joined the majority against it.

Joining them in opposition were Sens. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland; Anthony F. Novak, D-25 Cleveland; Robert O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, and Anice W. Johnson, R-18 Aurora.

Voting for the motion were Sens. Robert J. Corts, R-13 Elyria; Margene Valiquet, D-11 Toledo, and the committee Chairman, Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

Matia argued that nothing would be gained by postponing the vote until May. "This issue has been before us for two years. Another two weeks is not going to make any difference."

The postponement was sought by Corts and Miss Valiquette, one of the chief lobbyists for the Equal Rights. She has been sporting an "ERA" button on her blouse since the amendment for ratification was first introduced early in the session.

Miss Valiquette claimed it was unfair that the committee take a vote just six hours after the final hearing. She indicated she had not been informed the vote would be taken.

"I consider it an absolute lie to say that anybody on this committee did not know that this issue would come up

Creative Anachronism Group Harkens To Medieval Times

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The clang of sword-smitten armor is wafting across suburban California backyards.

Knights in homemade armor with wooden swords and shields are part of the monthly revels of the Society for Creative Anachronism, devoted to things medieval.

Each member of the group has a title and a coat of arms.

And, said Lady Cheryl of Castlwhyte, "everyone brings a medieval-style sack lunch—like meat, cheeses, bread. And everybody brings their own wine. We stress mead."

She explained that mead is a fermented drink which includes honey, and is much favored by slayers of dragons.

Lady Cheryl spends most of her time as Cheryl White, wife of 20th century plumber David White. The couple hosted the latest revel for about 35 persons last weekend in their backyard.

this morning," countered Aronoff. He said he had individually informed all members a motion either way would be acceptable.

The committee completed its hearing on the proposal Tuesday night. It was limited to opponents of the amendment and about 200 persons, most of them women, were present.

White is the local chapter's "seneschal," or head of the shire. And the Sacramento area is known as the Shire of the Golden Rivers of the West Kingdom.

"A revel starts about one in the afternoon and may go until three in the morning," Mrs. White said during an interview Tuesday.

"If someone joins just for the socializing, they usually don't stay with it. You have to get involved or you just get lost."

Members say the society began in Berkeley, Calif., about seven years ago with a gathering of medievalists in a backyard. The group claims 3,500 members nationwide with a $4 annual membership fee.

"One has to be proficient in certain areas and have a general knowledge of the historical period. And we have a line of royalty. A new king is elected three times a year at tournaments," Mrs. White said.

"Some people are in it for the broadsword, while others really get down to the meat of it," she said.

Members' interests include needlecraft, egg decorating, chess, dance, music and period research projects.

Indian Truce Is Broken By Gunfire

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Government reinforcements circled Wounded Knee today following a heavy exchange of gunfire that wounded at least two and possibly six of the militant Indians who have held this village 51 days.

A border patrolman from Montana said he and about 25 colleagues had been brought in to aid the 300 U.S. marshals and FBI agents around the village after the 90-minute gunfire exchange Tuesday morning and sporadic shooting the rest of the day.

An unidentified member of the estimated 150 Indians occupying Wounded Knee was listed in very critical condition this morning after undergoing brain surgery in a Rapid City hospital. A supervisor at the hospital said the man had suffered a gunshot wound in the head.

A government spokesman said at least one other Indian had been wounded during the exchange and no federal lawman had been hit. Sources on the Pine Ridge Reservation said four other militants were wounded but the five had been treated in the village.

The shooting was the first verified violation of a 3-week-old cease-fire.

Nut Losses Still Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal auditors figure the government's spiraling losses from the peanut price-support program will total nearly $1.2 billion by 1977, increasing at more than $100 million a year.

While the General Accounting Office, audit agency for Congress, was issuing this report Tuesday, the House Agriculture Committee voted 22-5 to block the Nixon administration from making two changes in the peanut program. One change involved a cancer-causing element.

However, the committee—in a step so rare that no one could recall the last time it happened—voted to eventually end a mandatory price support program, this one on tung nuts. U.S. taxpayers buy the entire American tung nut oil production at more than twice the world market price, with losses running in the millions of dollars.

The bill would extend mandatory support for tung nuts only through the 1976 crop. The oil is used as a drying agent in paint and industrial coatings. It had been considered critical to defense until synthetics came along some years ago.

Auto Emission Costs Too High, Muskie Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says the antipollution method chosen by U.S. automakers could cost the public up to $147 billion more in the next decade than available foreign engine designs.

"It's a pretty expensive option that the American auto industry has chosen," commented Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, when EPA officials disclosed their estimates Tuesday in hearings before his Air and Water Pollution subcommittee.

Muskie wondered why U.S. automakers had not, over the past 20 years, developed new engines instead of hanging on to their old designs and adding pollution clean-up devices after adoption of the 1970 Clean Air Amendments.

EPA and the National Academy of Sciences have found that three foreign engines can meet the U.S. law's original 1975 requirement for a 90 per cent reduction of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions.

EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus last Wednesday suspended that standard for one year because U.S. automakers could not meet it.

One of the possible foreign engines is Germany's Mercedes-Benz automobile diesel, which Ruckelshaus says needs additional study concerning noise and fumes.

The other two are Japanese: the Mazda rotary engine, which meets the 1975 standards but achieves relatively low gas mileage, and the Honda "stratified charge" engine.

The Honda engine meets not only the 1975 standard, but also a 1976 standard for a 90 per cent reduction of nitrogen oxides as well.

It imposes no fuel penalty, and Ruckelshaus said Tuesday that he would look into Honda claims that the new engine has been successfully enlarged to V-8 size.

Economic Control Plan In Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees have agreed on a compromise bill extending presidential authority to impose wage-price controls but Republican opposition in the House and the impending Easter recess leave the bill's future in doubt.

President Nixon's current authority to impose economic controls expires at midnight April 30 and Congress is due to quit today for its Easter recess, returning the morning of the 30th.

Meantime, House Republicans forecast a floor defeat for the compromise bill agreed upon Tuesday. Of the Republicans in the Senate-House conference committee, only one, Sen. Bob Packwood of Oregon, signed the version finally approved.

In the Senate, maneuvering over a voter-registration bill dominates the floor calendar with the bill's manager, Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., threatening to hold up all other legislation until he has agreement to vote on his bill first. Opponents have organized a filibuster against the bill, which would provide a postcard registration system.

Democratic Whip Sen. Robert Byrd said the wage-price bill won't be brought up until the day the authority expires, the day that Congress returns.

Some congressmen saw the bill as an opportunity for Congress to override the President's approaches to controlling inflation and unemployment by impoundment and cutbacks in approved programs.

But in each chamber, they lost on a lengthy list of amendments calling for everything from rolling back food prices and the prime interest rate to six-month freezes across the board.

The major control item left—and knocked out by the conferees—was a return to Phase 2 mandatory rent controls in most major metropolitan areas.

House Republicans refused to sign the compromise version, citing one provision that gives the president authority to allocate petroleum products. This is seen as working in favor of independent distributors against the big oil companies.

"This makes the president a czar over the oil industry," said Rep. Garry Brown, R-Mich., "the House will never accept this."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., did not sign the report either. He had strenuously opposed the oil allocation amendment in committee and on the floor.

Huffman Sales Rise

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sales of $73.5 million for the first three quarters of fiscal 1973, a 30 per cent increase over the same period last year, and earnings of $1.7 million, up 134 per cent, were reported Tuesday by the Huffman Manufacturing Co.

The firm, a major producer of bicycles, also announced a 5.3 per cent price increase to make up for cost increases on foreign parts resulting from the devaluation of the dollar in February.

U.N. Members Seek Mideast Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Security Council members sought a resolution today that would condemn Israel's raids into Lebanon and still survive the veto gauntlet of the United States, China and the Soviet Union.

British and French diplomats were reported working with Arab delegations to draw up a draft for submission to the council. A British spokesman said his delegation wanted it to include references to both the Israeli attack and to Palestinian guerrilla actions.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali made clear on Tuesday that he would veto any resolution that did not also condemn acts of terrorism by the Arab guerrillas.

"Violence by conventional forces and violence by terrorists are to be condemned equally," he said. "One is as ugly as the other."

But China and the Soviet Union have indicated they will veto any such double condemnation. Last fall, in a similar situation, both Communist countries voted against a resolution "deeply deploring" all acts of violence in the Middle East.

Lebanese Ambassador Edouard Ghorra, who brought the complaint against Israel, said his government "completely rejects the idea of a so-called balanced resolution putting on the same level violence by states and individuals."

"We are not to be made the scapegoat and we categorically reject any attempt by anyone to make Lebanon responsible for acts which are conducted outside its territory or acts by individual Palestinians," he declared.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah pointed out that the council "has never in history adopted a single resolution condemning the murder of Israeli citizens. Time and again such resolutions have been voted down or vetoed."

Tax Refunds To Be Slow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says late-filing taxpayers will have to wait at least six to seven weeks before any refund checks due them are put in the mail.

An IRS spokesman said Tuesday the vast majority of tax refund checks should be processed and sent out by the end of May.

But some may take longer, so any taxpayer who has failed to receive an expected refund by that time should wait until mid-June before contacting the IRS service center where he filed his return, the agency added.

Latest figures by the IRS show that almost $10 billion in refunds will be mailed out during the next two months.

Through April 11, the IRS had processed 36.3 million refunds totaling $12.5 billion. It is expecting to send a total of $22 billion in refunds to taxpayers this year.

The average refund totals $345.95, up about $95 from the average of a year earlier.

Ohio Firm Finds Money In Quietness

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Noise pollution has turned into big business for a Mentor company which supplies the polyurethane foam Detroit automakers use to keep their cars whisper quiet inside.

The one-year-old firm, Preform Sealants, Inc., expected to gross up to $200,000 in 1972 after it opened its doors in August, according to President John R. Humphrey.

"But we did better than $200,000 in September and October alone," he said.

Among the company's customers so far are American Motors and General Motors, which fills all of its sound-absorbing foam needs from Preform Sealants.

"No one else has been interested in making this," said Humphrey, who expects to build the firm into a $5 million concern within a few years. "They've felt there wasn't any money in it, I hope they don't change their minds."

The plant currently employs 15 people, and Humphrey said he provided a plant manager this week because "things were just getting too much for me to handle by myself."

The saturated polyurethane foam is used inside door panels and roofs—among other places. Humphrey leaves that decision up to the auto companies.

"We don't even know for sure just where it's always used," he said. "But we get enough orders for it."

Nation's Fruit Crops Badly Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fruit crops, especially peaches, seemed to suffer the most from spring weather that numbed many areas with record cold spells or drenched them with record rainfalls.

Extensive flooding, especially in Mississippi, also took its agricultural toll as farmland was too saturated for planting.

The cooperative extension service at Mississippi State University said Monday, "As of right now every acre in the state is too wet to plant."

Nearly a half million acres of Mississippi farmland are under water. Ray Converse, agriculture statistician for the state Department of Agriculture and Commerce, said one million acres were covered at one point.

Converse said it would be impossible to determine just how much of a financial loss is involved in state agriculture due to the flooding.

He said between $6 million and $8 million in soybeans and cotton from last year still hasn't been harvested and "it's pretty much gone."

The state university extension service estimated 100,000 acres of potential cotton land are under water and noted that cotton planting should

PUCO Studies Ruling On Natural Gas Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There was no immediate indication today what the impact on Ohio consumers would be of Tuesday's federal court decision in New Orleans granting higher natural gas prices to encourage development of new sources.

Sally Bloomfield of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said the PUCO probably would not have an official copy of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling for about two weeks and could not make a judgement on its impact until then.

have begun April 15 and ended by May 15. It said only 35 per cent of the cotton land has been readied for planting.

Temperatures plunged into the teens in some areas during the cold snap the second week in April, nipping peach and apple blossoms in the bud.

Officials in Chilton County, Ala., say record low temperatures virtually destroyed the county's $3 million peach crop. Sen. John Sparkman asked Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to declare the county a disaster area.

The Illinois crop reporting service estimated 80 to 90 per cent of Illinois' $1.38 million annual peach crop will be lost as well as 50 per cent of the state's $6 million annual apple crop.

Temperatures that dropped as low as 18 degrees at points in Virginia damaged some 20 per cent of the peach crop and 5 to 10 per cent of the state's apple crop. Dr. Ross Byers of the Winchester Fruit Research Laboratory said as a result consumers can expect higher retail prices for the two fruits this summer.

The same was true for several other fruit crops damaged by the cold. Arkansas officials said 50 to 75 per cent of the strawberry crop grown in central Arkansas was wiped out and Michigan cherry growers lost up to one quarter of their $22 million crop when the mercury nosedived to 10 degrees along Lake Michigan.

No End Seen To Rainfall Across East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms scattered rain from the lower Mississippi Valley across the Ohio Valley to the northern Appalachians today, as a new storm gathered over the Great Basin.

Excessive rainfall during the past two days has aggravated the flood threat on all rivers from eastern Texas through the lower Mississippi Valley, the National Weather Service said.

Twelve inches of rain swamped Morgan City, La., Monday and Tuesday, seven inches washed New Orleans and five-inch downpours ranged northward into Mississippi.

Tides three to five feet above normal along the north-central Gulf Coast also produced tidal flooding and slowed the flow of several rivers at flood stage.

Stockmen's advisories were issued from Nevada to Colorado and Wyoming as rain mixed with snow spread over the area on gusty winds.

The cold air following the storm was expected to produce winds to 45 miles per hour over the Southern California coast. Gale warnings were posted along the central California coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 28 at Great Falls, Mont., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

22-Year-Old Missing Person Case Revived

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — One of Cleveland's most famous and its oldest missing person case will be reopened this morning when police check out a tip that the body of Beverly Potts is buried beneath a West Side auto repair shop.

Beverly Potts was 10 years old when she disappeared Aug. 24, 1951 — almost 22 years ago. She had walked one block from her home to view a showwagon presentation at a park playground.

Cleveland detectives are withholding the name and location of the garage until they can search the place.

Marysville Reformatory To Die

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Reformatory for Women, young-looking at 56, has only three or four years to live.

The state's Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections thinks the middle-aged institution is past its prime, and plans to phase it out.

"We think we can do an even better job if we put the inmates in local communities," said Director Bennett J. Cooper. "We would create smaller institutions in, say, three metropolitan areas."

"After all, these are the communities to which the majority of the women will be going back. Being close to their communities will help in the adjustments they will have to make."

Cooper said Marysville Reformatory has, at least, two years to live. No money is included in the 1973-1975 biennial state budget for decentralizing Marysville.

But, the state has asked the federal government for $25,000 to help finance a $35,000 study of the best way to phase out the Marysville prison for women.

Cooper pointed out that inmate population at Marysville has shrunk to about 250, down from more than 400 once housed in its cottages.

"The rate of return of inmates and the cost of operating a large institution are factors in our decision," said Cooper.

He said envisioned small facilities with inmates working in the communities under the penal furlough programs with easy access to schools and training programs.

"The women could better acquire the skills that would be saleable in today's market," Cooper said.

Cooper gave the use of shock probation and improved parole handling as two reasons why the reformatory's population has been shrinking.

But, Marysville long has been stressing rehabilitation. Back in the 1940's the then-superintendent Margaret Reilly said, "No girl can be good if she doesn't have self-respect." She established a beauty parlor.

Since then the reformatory has established an improved educational program through high school, a food service training program, a beauty school and a computer technology school, among a number of rehabilitating programs.

Replacing the women's reformatory at Marysville with three smaller facilities follows the present trend in female prisons.

Never again, said Gov. John J. Gilligan at the opening of the new Southern Ohio Correctional Institution at Lucasville, will the state of Ohio build such big prisons.

For one thing, it makes it extremely difficult for families to visit inmates—an important part of returning inmates to productive lives at large.

Slate Production Of Electric Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Aronson, a Detroit inventor, says he hopes next fall to begin producing a four-passenger electric car for the American automobile market.

Aronson says he is negotiating with two Michigan firms to produce 100 of his X-14 Electriccars a month starting in September. The inventor claims he already has 1,000 orders, including some from the Avis car rental concern.

"Avis is going to be renting my cars in Chicago and Milwaukee as soon as they're ready," he said.

Electricar carries a $3,950 price tag and will combine the body of an American Motors subcompact Gremlin with Aronson's patented lead cobalt battery power source.

Aronson says the car can be operated from batteries charged by ordinary household electric current for only one cent a mile. He says this compares to about three cents a mile for gasburning cars.

The Electricar has no exhaust emissions. Aronson says it cruises at 65 miles per hour and can run up to 100 miles on an overnight charge of household current costing about 40 cents.

"We feel every family should have two cars — a gas car for long trips and an electric car for town shopping," he said. "Since we don't have that many charge stations around yet, we're not expecting to replace the internal combustion car for long trips."

Quick booster charges from special stations would be required for trips longer than 100 miles. Boosters were installed in a string of Holiday Inns between Detroit and Chicago for a 1970 cross-country electric car race won by one of Aronson's cars.

"We're not interested in making bodies and chassis, because too many people already do that too well," Aronson said. "Eventually we hope to supply our propulsion system to the big automakers, instead of their supplying us the bodies."

About 60 Electriccars already are on the road. They were hand-built at Aronson's Electric Fuel Propulsion Corp. office in suburban Ferndale.

Goldwater Radio Station Aids GIs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Family voices with reassuring hometown news or excited birth announcements flowed to South Vietnam during the war through an amateur radio station operated by Sen. Barry Goldwater. Now the station links servicemen in Thailand and the Philippines with their homes.

The station carried three-minute broadcast-telephone calls from South Vietnam until all stations there were closed as troops were withdrawn.

More than 132,000 telephone calls have passed through the amateur radio transmitters operated by the Arizona Republican since the facility became a Military Affiliate Radio Station in August 1967.

Under the system, a serviceman

Live Cartridges Being Sought

South Of Xenia

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Air Force personnel continued to search a 15-mile stretch of road in southern Greene County today for seven live 25mm cartridges believed to have fallen off a truck.

Officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton said 11 other shells were recovered earlier by the Greene County sheriff.

The shells were believed to have fallen off a truck Friday as the truck traveled between the base and the Spring Valley Wildlife Preserve, where surplus ammunition was being detonated.

An Air Force spokesman said the nine-inch, armor piercing ammunition used for anti-aircraft could explode if handled improperly.

places his call through an overseas transmitter. It is relayed through Goldwater's station into the telephone system.

Thirty-two amateur radio operators work in shifts at the station in the basement of Goldwater's home in northeast Phoenix. They are members of a club called "Bash Hal Ne Ae," Navajo for "metal that talks."

Goldwater is president. "He runs it himself, when he's available," said an operator about Goldwater, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1964.

"Goldwater pays for all Arizona calls, no matter where they are," said Robert Chamberlain, one of the operators. Persons receiving calls outside Arizona pay only the telephone tolls from Phoenix to their homes.

Chamberlain said the station has handled as many as 150 calls a day in a radio room marked by the Arizona senator's two-star general plaque. Goldwater is a member of the Air Force Reserve.

So far this year, the station has handled over 6,000 calls.

"When we're running patches, the telephone company assigns an operator to us," Chamberlain said. "When one call is finished, the operator puts another on, so its continuous."

Chamberlain said most people are unaware that their messages are being relayed through Goldwater's equipment.

He said the senator has asked the operators not to publicize it. But he added that the word leaks out and the senator has received numerous letters of appreciation.

Smoke Bomb Set Off At OSU Dormitory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A smoke bomb set off in Drackett Tower on the Ohio State University campus Tuesday night brought numerous pieces of fire-fighting equipment to the scene and caused evacuation of about 100 residents.

Officials said a fire alarm was turned in when smoke was seen coming from a room on an upper floor of the men's dormitory. There was only minor damage and no injuries were reported.

City Provides Garden Plots For Citizens

SEATTLE (AP) — The Patch is being split into small garden plots in what a city councilman calls "an urban recreational experience."

The city, which has leased three acres for the 10-month experiment with a public vegetable garden, will divide the land into 300 plots of 400 square feet each, or 20 feet by 20 feet.

"Hopefully, it will be a public trust, like a public park, and a way to meet a lot of nice people doing the same thing," said an employee of the Puget Consumers Cooperative, selected to manage the gardens.

The cooperative, a citizens' group engaged in educational programs in farming, had received about 110 applications for 130 plots by Tuesday, a day after the City Council approved the project and a month since it first was made public.

Two youth agencies have applied for about 10 plots each. And a third-acre has been set aside for the city's Youth Division, which technically is the sponsoring agency.

The $10 application fees will be used to buy irrigation water and pay for other incidentals. The City Council has appropriated $950 to pay property taxes, buy liability insurance and pay a master gardener's salary.

"Its aim is to bring the farming experience to city dwellers," said City Councilman John Miller. "In the 20th century, with increasing urbanization, this has vanished. It's an urban recreational experience."

GTE Begins Amanda Area Cable Project

Construction has started on a major cable addition for growth in the southeast sector of the Amanda exchange, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

Paul G. Diener, Circleville commercial manager, said the $22,400 project is designed for upgrading of present services and future growth in the area.

The new cable will be buried where terrain and right-of-way permits.

"Burying cable enhances the natural beauty of the landscape and reduces service outages from severe weather conditions and automobile accidents," the manager added.

Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

The Amanda exchange serves 1,534 telephones in a 95.4-square-mile-area of Fairfield and Hocking counties.

Walton Leads Twins Over Angels

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny Walton's a nice guy to have in a pinch.
And Tony Oliva's a nice guy to have on the bench—especially when he's the one who suggests that Walton might be better by getting off of it.
Oliva, always a potent man with a bat but less than agile in the field because of recurrent knee ailments, was made for the role of designated hitter.

But going into the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday, with Minnesota trailing the California Angels 3-1 and trying to get something going, Oliva thought perhaps someone else might be better suited for the job.
A few minutes later the Twins really had something going. They'd cut the California lead to 3-2, Steve Barber, a lefthander, had come on in relief of Bill Singer for the Angels, the bases were loaded...and Oliva was due up.

It was Walton who got the nod this time. "It doesn't bother me to be pinch-hit for," said Oliva, who had never been pinch-hit for in his major league career. "I know when I can hit and when I can't."
Quilici obviously knew when Walton could hit. "I was just thinking fly ball," the pinch-hitter said. That's what he hit, too...except it landed in the left field seats, a grand-slam home run that highlighted an eight-run explosion and carried Minnesota to a 10-5 victory.

In other American League games, the Chicago White Sox clubbed Texas 10-5, the Detroit Tigers beat Boston 6-3, the Baltimore Orioles defeated the New York Yankees 4-2, the Cleveland Indians topped Milwaukee 7-3 and, in 14 innings, the Kansas City Royals tripped Oakland 5-4.

Bill Melton also had a memorable homer Tuesday—the 100th of his major league career. It was a two-run shot deep into the upper deck in left field that triggered a five-run Chicago blitz in the fifth inning which assured them of victory over the Rangers.

The Red Sox out-homered the Tigers 3-2, with Carlton Fisk connecting twice and Rico Petrocelli once.

Sparky Lyle, last year's ace of the Yankees' bullpen crew, has been sparking the enemy. On Tuesday night, he gave up a gamebreaking homer to Baltimore's Earl Williams in the eighth inning, the first in the American League for the former Atlanta catcher.

Oscar Gamble led the Indians over Milwaukee with a triple and two singles as he scored two runs and drove in one.
Cookie Rojas had a pair of runs batted in apiece against Oakland, but Hal McRae had the one that meant the most for the Royals. It was a 14th-inning single that sent the defending World Champion A's tumbling to their sixth defeat in eight games.

Duffy Daugherty Says Big Ten Poor

NEW YORK (AP) — Duffy Daugherty, who spent nearly two decades coaching in the Big Ten, says the college conference has plunged from allpowerful to poor.

"But," he says with Irish bristle, "the Big Ten'll be back. It was supreme before ... it'll be supreme again."

Duffy, white-haired and 57, retired last fall after 19 seasons as head football coach at Michigan State but remains there at full salary, basically as a fund raiser.

Hendrick's Blast Caps Win

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Indians center fielder George Hendrick flattened one side of the baseball, along with the Milwaukee Brewers, with one swing of the bat Tuesday night.

Hendrick's sixth-inning blast carried 455 feet to dead center and hit the bleacher wall on one bounce. No one has ever hit a home run into the bleachers in Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

The wallop came on a two-strike pitch and put the finishing touch on a 7-3 Cleveland victory.

"I saw Hank Aaron hit baseballs as hard," said Indians manager Ken Aspromonte, "but I've never seen anybody hit a ball harder. It was a cannon shot. He whiplashed it. It was all wrist action."

Arena Future Eyed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cheered by "the breakthrough, in the impasse," City Manager E. Robert Turner said a last minute move to locate a hockey arena downtown near the riverfront is gaining momentum.

After a marathon meeting which went into the night, Turner announced Tuesday "we're certainly going to try to get something worked out by the end of the week."

The ball was retrieved by Indians trainer Jim Warfield and given to Tribe pitching coach Warren Spahn. Spahn insisted the ball was flat on one side.

"So help me, it was flat where he hit it," said Spahn. "No kidding! Wouldn't you be if you got hit that hard?"

"This kid is a combination of Aaron and (Willie) McCovey. All he needs is to learn to be a little more consistent."

Kennedy 'Misconduct' Under Study

NEW YORK (AP) — The Board of Governors of the National Basketball Association meets today to decide whether Commissioner Walter Kennedy was "guilty of misconduct" in the John Brisker case as held by a Federal judge.

The Board's decision also will decide whether Philadelphia or Seattle gets the No. 4 first round pick in Thursday's NBA draft of college players.

Brisker, a high scoring 6-foot-5 forward, had been picked by Philadelphia in the 1969 NBA draft, but he signed with Pittsburgh of the American Basketball Association. When the Pittsburgh franchise folded after the 1972 season he signed with Seattle.

Kennedy permitted Seattle to keep Brisker, but since Philadelphia held prior rights the Commissioner awarded Seattle's first round draft pick to the 76ers and fined the SuperSonics $10,000.

U.S. District Court Judge John H. Tenney ruled last week that Kennedy had "usurped" the authority of the Board and was "guilty of misconduct" because he did not hold a hearing or consult with the Board before making his decision. Judge Tenney also eliminated the fine.

Strongest Man Will Perform At Exhibition

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Walsh doesn't look all that awesome—this stocky little man in a dark suit and open-throated shirt—but it wouldn't be wise to make him mad.

He can crush you as he would a match stick. He advertises himself as the "Strongest Man in the World."

What about Vassili Alexsev, the 350-pound Russian weightlifter who hoists 520 pounds of iron over his head with both hands?

"I lift 700 pounds with one finger," counters Walsh. "I've seen the Russian work. I admire what he does. But I'd like to challenge him in a test of real strength."

Walsh doesn't fool with iron bars. He has lifted a 4,000-pound elephant, carried a grown horse up a ladder on his back and raised with his back and arms a platform of 20 Hollywood beauties weighing a total of 5,013 pounds.

Walsh will demonstrate his feats of strength April 29 at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum as the featured performer in the Oriental World of Self Defense Exhibition. At that time he will attempt to break his own world record by lifting a 700-pound motorcycle with one finger.

"My strength lies in my legs," says Walsh, whose 5-foot-10, 200-pound frame masks his reputation as a modern Samson. "Weightlifters, like the Russian, depend on biceps and triceps. The Russian's got a body like an army tank. My strength lies in my ligaments and tendons and in employment of proper leverage."

Rossford's Stalma To Play At UC

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Joe Stalma, a 6-foot-8 centerforward from Rossford, Ohio, high school, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at the University of Cincinnati, Bearcat Coach Gale Catlett announced today.

Stalma, a 235-pounder, averaged 16.1 points and 17.7 rebounds per game last season as Rossford compiled a 20-3 record in Class AA play.

The signing was the first announced by Catlett for the 1973 season.

Columbus Seals Will Remain In IHL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Despite poor attendance and a poor win-loss record, Columbus will remain a member of the International Hockey League, Don Scott, the club's general manager, assured The Associated Press Tuesday.

The Seals called a news conference for 2 p.m. today, presumably to announce their sale from Charles O. Finley to local interests.

The oockpick, the seal-skin, hand-crafted model of the artic owl, originated at Fort Chimo, Quebec.

Ethics Bill Given OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House State Government Committee approved 20-0 late Tuesday night a bill to establish a code of ethics for all public officials in the state.

The measure now goes to the House Rules Committee, which will schedule it for a floor vote.

A spokesman for the Gilligan administration, which regards ethics legislation as a top priority, expressed pleasure with the bill, although the committee amended it to delete a requirement that public officials disclose their annual income.

The amendment by Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-75 Springfield, requires disclosure of sources of income, but not the amounts.

Another amendment by Fry, to drop local elected officials from coverage, was defeated.

Under the measure, all elected public officials and all candidates for public office would be required to file financial disclosure statements.

Pass Seeks Suppression Of Testimony

Erie, Pa. (AP) — The attorney for alleged Yablonski family slayer Albert E. Pass has asked Erie County Court to suppress the testimony of four confessed participants in the 1969 killings.

The request came in one of four defense motions filed by attorney

Harold Gondelman on behalf of Pass, a 52-year-old former United Mine Workers official from Middlesboro, Ky.

Gondelman asked that Judge Edward Carney suppress the testimony of Claude Vealey, Silous Huddleston, Paul Gilly and his wife Annette at Pass' trial, which is scheduled to begin here June 3.

All four have pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence in the 1969 slayings of UMW insurgent Joseph Yablonski and his wife and daughter. Gondelman claimed in his motion submitted Monday that their confessions were products of "coercion, fear, duress, suggestion and promises."

Other motions filed included a challenge to the jurisdiction exercised by the state in charging Pass with murder in the case, a request for information from the prosecution and a challenge to the method of grand jury selection in Washington County, scene of the killings.

County Planning Commission Begins Study

The Pickaway County Planning Commission met Tuesday to study accident locations throughout the county.

The study is a part of the thoroughfare plan they are developing for the county.

In addition to the accident study, the commission also looked into the population shifts within the county between the 1960 and the 1970 censuses.

According to the accident study, most of the accidents occurred on Route 23 and Route 22 through the county. There was a heavier concentration of accidents within a 6-mile radius of Circleville than in outlying areas of the county.

Route 56 southeast to Laurelville also had a large number of accidents. The Circleville Lockbourne Road north from Ashville also had a heavy accident rate.

Madison Twp. showed the highest increase in population, 104.1 per cent. South Bloomfield population was up 43.9 per cent and Washington Twp. up 32.9 per cent and Darby Twp. up 47.6 per cent. Deercreek, Monroe, Muhlenberg, Perry townships all showed a decrease in population from 1960 to 1970.

Outdoor Drama Given $125,000 State Grant

The Scioto Society, in a financial bind since last summer when its funds were earmarked to match a $482,000 federal Economic Development Administration grant, was relieved of its money problem Tuesday with the announcement of a $125,000 state grant for the outdoor drama production.

The State Emergency and Controlling boards met in joint session Monday and voted to appropriate the money in operating funds for the Society.

Now the Society will be able to go ahead with preparations for the June 30 opening of the drama "Tecumseh." Many preparations had been held up for lack of operating money.

Materials for scenery, props and costumes which could not be purchased before can now be obtained. Negotiations were resumed for an equity actor to play the part of Tecumseh.

The Scioto Society also plans to use some of the money to bring Shawnee Indians from Shawnee, Okla., to participate in the drama.

A grant of $125,000 had been sought through the Ohio Arts Council, but it was turned down in January for lack of funds. W.L. Mundell and board member Robert Badgley have been working for months with State Rep. Myrl Shoemaker and State Sen. Harry Armstrong to obtain state help.

Armstrong introduced an amendment in the Senate which would have provided the Scioto Society $125,000 from state's federal revenue sharing money, but Mundell said such a grant would not have entirely solved the Society's problems, since revenue sharing money would have been available for capital improvements, and the need was for operating funds.

Shoemaker, a member of the state Controlling Board, prepared the proposal approved by the Emergency and Controlling boards in their joint session. Donald Streibig, director of the Ohio Arts Council, testified at the joint board meeting, citing strong community support and managerial know-how demonstrated by the Society, along with a script by a recognized author as reasons for justifying the request for emergency appropriation.

The boards voted unanimously for the appropriation. The state money should be available within a matter of days.

Butz Attacks Congressmen For Making 'Political Hay'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says some congressmen favor price rollbacks only because they are trying to appease irate consumers and make "political hay" back home.

Butz, in a speech Tuesday, said also that Nixon administration strategy does not call for dismantling all farm programs as charged by some critics. The game plan, however, does include a phase-out of direct income supplement payments to farmers.

The food price resistance of housewives cannot be ignored, Butz told the Newspaper Farm Editors of America, but larger farm production is the administration's answer, not price rollbacks.

Attempts to roll back prices and wages failed in the House Monday.

Seale Defeated For Mayor's Post

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Black Panther Bobby Seale ran a distant second in his race for mayor of Oakland but won a runoff with incumbent John Reading, who fell only 84 votes short of a majority in unofficial returns from the nine-way race.

In nearby Berkeley, a moderate-liberal coalition came from behind to lead radicals in a race for four council seats and control of city government.

The final, unofficial total in Oakland's election Tuesday was Reading 55,342 to 21,314 for Seale. Reading needed more than 50 per cent to avoid a May 15 runoff. His final unofficial total was 49.92 per cent. Seale had 19.26 per cent of the 110,851 votes cast. Seven other candidates got the remaining votes.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Mainland China's great leap forward also is going up, sideways and through hoops tonight in an astounding 90-minute show on the ABC Television network.

The program, modestly called "The Greatest Show on the Other Side of the Earth," stars Red China's Shenyang Acrobatic Troupe, which made a four-city tour of the United States last December and January.

The tour, which drew considerable acclaim, is part of the gradual thaw in relations between the United States and mainland China that followed President Nixon's historic trip to Peking early last year.

The troupe kept the thaw going during its tour by unveiling at the start of its show a huge red banner that said, "Long Live the Friendship Between the Peoples."

At the end of the performance, another large red banner was unfurled. It was more specific. It said, "Long Live the Friendship between the Chinese and American Peoples."

Those were the only commercials. In between, as those who watch the show tonight may feel, there was a display of physical agility, endurance and grace that was downright mind-boggling.

The troupe, whose art form is more than 2,000 years old, starts off with "plate spinning," involving long sticks on which the performers each spin up to eight dinner plates while doing somersaults, handstands and getting their heads together the hard way.

For my dough, the best of the 12-part program comes at the end in the segment called "hoop diving," once called the swallow game because the hoop-divers seem to imitate the flight of swallows.

They put two hoops, one atop the other, on a stand. The idea is to leap through the hoop without knocking it over. They do it time and again, even with a second set of hoops. Don't ask me how.

Although some may find the show too long—and I'm among them—the pace is strikingly close to that of the old vaudeville shows, with the high spots carefully positioned to let the audience catch its breath.

Bees Trip On Kowhai

WELLINGTON (AP) — New Zealand's golden-flowered kowhai tree is being blamed for sending thousands of bees on a drug "trip."

The bees were found in an apparent coma on the banks of the Mokihini River.

Officials of the Agriculture and Fisheries Department say the kowhai has a narcotic effect on bees, which can suffer hallucinations after sipping the nectar. The bees usually recover.

Record Broken

HAMILTON, N.Z. (AP) — A rock group named Judge Hoffman is claiming a world record of 76 hours' nonstop music.

Playing at a dancehall in Hamilton, the group maintained the marathon on a diet of milk, glucose and eggs.

The organist was taken to the hospital suffering from exhaustion after 40 hours, but later rejoined the group and played from a bed in the middle of the stage.

Engineer Seeks Motor Patent

PAU, France (AP) — A French engineer said today he has asked for a patent on a motor whose pistons move at a tangent instead of perpendicularly.

Guy Constant, 36, a professor of electrical mechanics and industrial automation, explained that the traditional perpendicular movement of the pistons develops only a small percentage of the energy created by the explosion of the fuel. The tangential pistons produce a greater power for the same cylinder capacity, he said.

Constant said that his motor could perform the same functions as the classic motor, but is simpler to construct and works with less wear. He said that the French Ministry of Defense had taken an option on his patent.
